O Father, Son, and Spirit too,
Descend on us we pray,
May your word from our lips go forth
And change the world today.

A hundred years within these walls
Your word has been proclaimed,
May we that legacy fulfill
As we preach forth your name.

This font has been the birthing place
For faith to bloom and grow;
The Spirit here worked in our hearts
That we, your name, would know.

The images of Jesus' life
Displayed in stains of glass,
Teach us of Jesus' love and pow'r
In mem-ries that hold fast.

The steeple that to heaven points
Keeps our eyes fixed on you,
That we, one day, will enter there
When our life here is through.

O God, protect this edifice,
Our worship home and place;
Your name, here, be forever praised,
Till we behold your face.
